

Join The Dibble Institute Team!

The Dibble Institute is seeking Outreach Educator and Trainers to:

- ✓ Speak before large groups at educational conferences,
- ✓ Train teachers and other instructors in Dibble Institute materials,
- ✓ Exhibit Dibble Institute materials at conferences,
- ✓ Present the case for marriage and the need for youth relationship education.

We are looking for articulate, organized Family and Consumer Science professionals who are well versed in marriage research and trends, able to travel, and capable of achieving successful results with a minimum of supervision. Prior successful teaching experience with either the Connections or Love U2 programs is essential.

Feel free to download a complete job description.

If you feel you have the skills and experience to succeed in this challenging position, please send your cover letter and resume to Irene Varley, Director of Education. Please, no telephone calls.

The Dibble Institute for Marriage Education is a nonprofit 501c3 organization dedicated to helping young people learn the skills necessary for successful relationships and marriages. We serve as a national leader in the field of youth marriage education. The Dibble Institute develops, publishes, and distributes materials that help teens learn how to navigate their romantic lives.

The Dibble Institute is an equal opportunity employer.